

Trayport Appoints Client Managers to Support its Expanding Customer Base

Electronic trading provider attracts ex Bank of New York and Citibank professionals

London, 27 April 2005 – Trayport, a leading supplier of electronic trading systems, today announced that two new client managers, Caroline Mungroo and Phillip Munro, have joined the company. These appointments coincide with the development of Trayport's GlobalVision suite of products designed specifically to meet the distinct needs of Trayport's broker, exchange and trader clients.

Caroline Mungroo's main focus will be on building in-depth relationships with Trayport's exchange and trader clients, while Phillip Munro will take responsibility for meeting the requirements of Trayport's broker customers.

Caroline Mungroo has joined Trayport from the Bank of New York where she was the Client Services Officer for Investment Accounts. Prior to that Caroline spent six years in client management positions at Brown Brothers Harriman Ltd and Fidelity Investments. At Brown Brothers she actively contributed to the setup and development of an electronic equity execution service for their Institutional European clients.

Phillip Munro brings over ten years of account management experience, including four years as a Relationship Manager at Citibank. Phillip is also well acquainted with the financial technology world, having spent the last six years at the portfolio analytics software firm StatPro, where he was responsible for increases in renewals and revenue growth.

"Our goal is to further grow the company across new markets and territories. Caroline and Phillip's financial services background and commercial awareness will help us achieve this," said Elliott Piggott, Commercial Director at Trayport. "Their combined expertise has already brought great benefits to our different client groups".
